(ANANG VILAS.)

This Yakuti or life-giving nectar has been prepared from the best, choicest and richest vegetable drugs. It has a wonderful property of increasing the nerve power and is specific for diseases. This valuable medicine is used in large quantities among Rajas, Maharajas and many of our esteemed customers. But we have ventured to give it publication simply with a view to place it before the general public owing to the demand of several friends. It is needless to expatiate upon the magical qualities of this our invaluable medicine. We would not like to blow the trumpet as is the fashion of the day, but suffice it to say that the use of this medicine is recommended to those who have any faith in the efficacy of Ayurvedic and Unani persons who desire to tone up the nervous medicines. We recommend it also to those system, to strengthen the body refresh the memory and to guard agianst debility. It works like a charm and the effect is lasting. It restores strength and it is enough to say that musk is not that which a perfumer admires, it is that which diffuses fragrance of its own accord. Price per tin containing 40 pills. Rupees ten only. STANDARD BAROMETER READING.

The following information is published in order that vessels in the Bombay Harbour may by comparison with a standard instrument ascertain the errors of their barometers:—

The reading of the Standard Barometer in the Colaba Observatory corrected for index error and reduced to 80 deg. F. and to the level of the tide, at 8-45 a.m., Standard Time on the 19th August 1916 was 29.973 inches. For temperature corrections applicable to mercurial barometer of ships the reading of the ship's barometer has to be increased or decreased by .031 inch for every 5 degrees according as the temperature of the attached thermometer is respectively below or above 80 deg. F. In case of the aneroid no temperature correction is needed. But for comparison at 80 deg. F. all aneroid readings should be increased by .138 inch. For correcting the ship's barometer either mercurial or aneroid for the height of the barometer cistern above the tide level in the stream at 8-45 a.m. Standard Time, the ship's barometer reading should be increased by .010 inch for every 10 feet of the height to make it comparable with the observatory barometer reading given.

HEALTHY HAIR HINTS.

The idea that baldness is a sign of intellectuality is fast being exploded.

The hair is not pushed out of the head by the great knowledge inside.

In fact many learned men use Kaminia Oil to prevent their hair from coming out.

They are succeeding with it, too.

So are many in all stages of intellectuality.

Available everywhere but it must be Kaminia Oil.

GROUNDNUT CROP IN BOMBAY.

The following first memorandum on the groundnut crop in the Bombay Presidency, including Sind and Native States, for the Season of 1916-17, has been issued by the Department of Agriculture.

Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1914-15 the area under groundnut in the British Territory included in this forecast has represented some 15.1 per cent. of the total area under the crop in British India.

Information incomplete. Reported area 121 thousand acres in British Districts and 44 thousand acres in Native States; 10 per cent. over corresponding area last year and 82 per cent. over decennial average at same date. Increase due to favourable sowing rains and to popularity of crop among cultivators owing to ready sale it obtains in the market. The crop was sown normally in the second fortnight of June and is generally doing well everywhere.

SUGARCANE CROP IN BOMBAY.

The following preliminary memorandum on the sugarcane crop in the Bombay Presidency, including Sind and Native States, for the season 1916-17, has been issued by the Department of Agriculture.

Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1914-15 the area under Sugarcane in the British Territory included in this forecast has represented some 2.7 per cent of the total area under the crop in British India.

Information incomplete. Reported area 53,000 acres in British Districts and 30,000 acres in Native States; 10 per cent. over corresponding area last year and 36 per cent. over decennial average at same date. Increase in Presidency general and mostly due to high prices fetched for the produce owing to war and to plentiful supply of water in wells and canals at sowing time which extends from November to June. In Sind area restricted owing to inadequate water supply. Crop generally thriving everywhere.

ERANDOL MUNICIPALITY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "CHRONICLE."

Sir,—You were kind enough to publish a communication about the Hyderabad Municipal Committee in a recent issue of your paper. I would be much obliged if you would similarly publish my letter re the Municipality of Erandol in East Khandesh which also is one of the four municipalities in this presidency that are at present under suspension.

Erandol Municipality was superseded by Government Notification No. 5366 dated 6th September, 1911, for a period of three years on account, mainly among other things, of its sacrificing public to private interests, its dilatoriness, its non-revision of house tax and non-recovery of past arrears. Its management was entrusted to an administrator assisted by an advisory committee of four nominated members. After three years, it appeared to Government that the proscribed period was insufficient to rectify the effects of the incompetence and defaults of the Erandol Municipality and consequently the Governor-in-Council was pleased to continue the said period until 5th September 1916. It is not my intention at this distant date to enter into the merits or demerits of the order of supervision but at the same time, I cannot help submitting that so long a withholding of our municipal rights was certainly more than sufficient a punishment and humiliation to the people of Erandol, for the alleged faults of very few of the then Municipal Councillors. As the 5th of September 1916, is soon coming near, the people of Erandol are naturally eager to get their municipal franchise; but it is rumoured in the town that a further extension of one year has been asked for and already sanctioned by the Government. I cannot vouchsafe for the accuracy of the rumour as no Government notification has yet appeared to that effect. But if it be really true I beg to enter my respectful protest against it as there exists not the least ground for the contemplated extension.

The reasons, which in the opinion of the Government, called for this drastic and extreme measure of supercession do not at present exist. House and other taxes have been revised and increased (in some cases three or four times) so as to more than double the Municipal revenue accruing at the date of suspension, past arrears have all been recovered, many disputes as to encroachments on municipal properties have been amicably settled, roads have been considerably widened and municipal interests have been keenly watched and safeguarded. Under these circumstances, the non-restoration by the Government to Erandol people of their municipal rights after 5th September, 1916, would be greatly inconsistent with the progressive policy of the Government in the matter of local self-government, and would be most unjustifiable and arbitrary.

In the absence of the restraining influence of public opinion, the Administrator manages the municipal affairs in his own way and freely spends money on schemes of his heart's desires, irrespective of the fact that there may not be the least necessity for it. Only last year seven acres of land have been acquired for nearly Rs. 4,500 to store municipal refuse it was said. But instead of storing refuse there, the plot is actually leased this year and the refuse is rotting to the north of the town in the close proximity of a road which is a great thoroughfare and to the greatest inconvenience of the public inhabiting that part of the town. This year a plot of land to the north of the town measuring nearly four acres with a well in is sought to be acquired for constructing latrins for the public. I understand that an award of nearly Rs. 3,000 is made in the favour of the owner by the land acquiring officer quite recently. There seems to be no demand whatsoever for these latrines as only last year, a block of 12 latrines was erected by the Municipality on the same side of the town and barely three minutes' walk from the site now to be acquired. If the latrines are really required the administrator may easily construct them side by side with the latrines above mentioned after acquiring a quarter acre piece of land at a nominal cost of Rs. 50 or so. To acquire a Bagait plot of four acres at the cost of nearly Rs. 3,000 for constructing latrines for which no case is made out is to say the least, squandering of public money without rhyme or reason. If he would only spend this sum for metalling the roads and constructing gutters how advantageous it would be to us. Would not the Commissioner, C D., look into this acquisition matter and stop it before the money is paid? And would not the Government kindly see their way to restore the Erandol Municipality after five long years of supersession? I enclose herewith my card.—Yours, etc.,

J.

"HORSES WENT MAD."

CAVALRY MAN'S STORY OF THE THRILLING CHARGE.

Several of the men who took part in the charge by Dragoon Guards and Deccan Horse near the Foureaux Wood in mail week, when for the first time since the early days of the war British cavalry came into action, are over in England for a few days' leave. A London representative of the "Manchester Guardian" met one of them—a member of the famous Indian regiment, dusty, travel-stained, brown, and exceedingly fit. When he was asked if he had by any chance met any of the men in that affair he grinned.

"I was in it myself," he said. "I was one of the lucky ones, for, indeed, we counted ourselves lucky to get to work again at our old job." He had been living the life of a disgruntled infantryman in the trenches, hoping always, in this engagement and that, that the way would be clear once more for a cavalry charge.

The excitement of preparing for this last attack and the thrill when the order came to take up their position ready for the dash were indicated.

"We were ready early in the day," he said, "riding light, our horses full of excitement and restless as if they knew what work was before them. We had to lead the attack of the far-advanced infantry on certain German trenches, and we very soon found that we should not be able to dash across the trenches ourselves; we should have to go around them and attack them in the rear. And so we waited and waited for hours till at last in the afternoon the signal for the attack came and we picked our way around the trench line.

FLIGHT OF THE ENEMY.

"Then the horses simply went mad, and so did we, and the Germans had the surprise of their lives. They hadn't dreamt of British cavalry. They were terrified, and they fled in all directions, hunting for any sort of cover where there was none.

"The horses were a marvel. They had been kept in perfect training down at the camps all those months, and they knew exactly what to do. It was their fight as much as ours. The Germans got their guns on us, and shells were bursting all about, but they didn't care in the least. If they galloped full-tilt into a shell-hole they clambered out on the other side almost without slackening speed, and mostly they took the holes at a bound. They were wild.

"I couldn't tell what we did, what was happening with us all the time. Our blood was up too, and I only know that we rode in and among the Germans, groups of them or scattered men, thrusting them with our swords held at rest over the horses' sides, and that we cleared that bit of ground in two or three hours. Meanwhile the infantry had done their job and taken the trench."

DR. MACKICHAN'S CONVOCATION ADDRESS.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICLE."

Sir,—I voice the sentiments of a very considerable majority of your readers when I say that Dr. Mackichan's Convocation address delivered on Tuesday last will go down to posterity as an intensely interesting document of real educational enthusiasm. The language was worthy of the message it conveyed, and the voice seemed meant for an orator of the human race, so solemnly did it rise to the height of its great argument. Never were sympathy and observation more impressively in evidence. Never was an unerring grip of facts so searchingly brought to bear on problems of education. Dr. Mackichan did us a world of good in denouncing the prevalent heresy about 'unintelligent cram' with which our students are charged more often than desirable, with scant justice to their zeal and earnestness. Progress in collegiate education is handicapped by the inadequate equipment of matriculates, and our illustrious Vice-Chancellor did well to indicate the imperfections which characterise the teaching of English in our High Schools. This fact was painfully borne in upon me when I was examining matriculation candidates in English this year. The besetting sins of students were, in the main, two: irrelevant matter and irrelevant expression, often reminding me of those curious creatures who seek to escape by discharging an inky fluid at the approach of a stranger. I am not inclined to attribute these lapses from good taste to lack of power or of intelligent insight on the part of candidates, they are rather due to want of practice in writing, or to lack of clearness of expression in the teacher. Many students lose their heads in the Examination Mandap by their over-earnestness to stand well with the examiner; in their scramble against time they omit some essential words or else commit mistakes in orthography. All but the very best break down in composition, paraphrase and translation, for there is no scope for "mugging up tips" to which our students are so prone.

I feel as though much good will follow if some measures are devised to develop the faculty of accurate observation, and to widen the circle of their "interests." An immense deal of bad spelling, bad punctuation, bad grammar, bad logic, etc., will cease to disfigure the answers returned by the candidates if they were continually drilled in written composition. Exercises should be carefully looked over by the teacher in the presence of the student, if possible, or, if the number is prohibitive the teacher should frame his discourse on the common errors noticed by him. If the teaching of English is entrusted to a teacher who has more than a nodding acquaintance with his subject, who has a true appreciation of literary style and who can fill his students with like enthusiasm, candidates will render a much better account of themselves than they have done so far. They should likewise be encouraged to extend their reading beyond the prescribed text-books. Paraphrase should by no means be ignored as it is useful both as a test of intelligence and an exercise in composition. In conclusion, I strongly appeal to teachers who wish well of their charge to set their faces sternly against the use of cribs, many of which are 'as bad as bad could be.'

It remains now to dwell upon the mechenical proprieties of the answer-book, and I do not know if there is more solid good sense in a smaller compass than the following "don'ts" for examination candidates of all grades:—

(1) Don't write round a subject but to the point.

(2) Don't write two words where one will do equally well.

(3) Don't use words whose meaning you do not clearly understand; and as a corollary to this—

(4) Don't quote Latin (or Sanskrit) as you value your percentage, English is good enough for English.

(5) Don't write more illegibly than you can help, and don't cramp your lines together.

(6) Don't forget to read your answers.—Yours, etc.,

MARATHA STUDENTS.

PRIZE DISTRIBUTION.

The distribution of prizes to the successful students of the Deccan Maratha community studying in different schools and colleges in Bombay, took place yesterday at the Halai Bhatia Mahajan Wadi Hall, Bombay, the Hon. Sir F. L. Sprott presiding. The meeting, which was held under the auspices of the Maratha Scholarship Fund and the Deshastha Maratha Shikshan Samaj, was largely attended.

After the pupils had sung some songs, and the report had been read, the Chairman gave away the prizes. Several speakers then addressed the assembly. Mr. N. M. Joshi said, education was at the root of all reform. If they worked more zealously than they did at present in the cause of education they would be able to have ten such prize-distributions every year.

The Chairman, addressing the assembly, said the main characteristics of the Marathas were hardiness and endurance. They in Bombay chiefly knew the Marathas as labourers, who spent their days in hard physical work in the docks and other places. He had also come in contact with them outside Bombay in connection with irrigation work and he found in them the characteristics he had referred to. These characteristics had made Maratha soldiers so successful at the front. He trusted that the education given in the schools, patronised by the Deshastha Shikshan Samaj, would be such as to preserve these two qualities among the Marathas. He wished success to the work of the Society.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Chairman terminated the proceedings.

THE K. R. CAMA ORIENTAL INSTITUTE.

LATE MR. SUKHADWALLA'S GIFT OF A LAKH.

Yesterday was the seventh anniversary of the death of the famous Avesta scholar Mr. K. R. Cama and it is satisfactory to note that a movement that was set on foot to perpetuate his memory has now materialized.

It will be remembered that at a large and influential meeting held on the 8th December 1909 at the Framji Cowasji Institute, under the Presidency of his Excellency Lord Sydenham, it was resolved to appoint a Committee to collect subscriptions for a suitable memorial to commemorate the services of Mr. Cama and the many activities to which he had so zealously and so faithfully devoted himself.

There was a consensus of opinion that the most suitable monument to Mr. Cama would be an Oriental Institute for promoting and advancing oriental studies and for offering facilities to the existing societies and institutions already engaged in such work. A small Executive Committee was accordingly appointed to carry out the object. The Chairman of the Committee is Rev. Dr. Mackichan and Sir Stanley Reed, Mr. Kazi Kabiruddin and Mr. R. P. Masani are its Honorary Secretaries.

In response to an appeal for funds for the Institute subscriptions have been received to the extent of about Rs. 1,10,000 rupees one lakh generously offered by that great Hindu philanthropist, Mr. Damodher Gordhandas Sukhadwalla, who, limited as were his means, loved to emulate the charities of Mr. Andrew Carnegie, and who has given our city a Free Reading Room and Library. Mr. Sukhadwalla died in November 1913 before the amount was paid but agreeably to his intentions it was arranged with the Executors of his will that in lieu of the sum of rupees one lakh, a floor of the Sukhadwalla Buildings newly built on Hornby Road for the Free Reading Room and Library should be permanently dedicated to the Cama Oriental Institute. Owing to legal technical difficulties this arrangement had to be abandoned and the flat has been temporarily leased for the Institute since November last.

The late Mr. Cama's private library has been presented to the Committee by the executors of his will. With it is also located in the Institute the Mulla Feroze Library the authorities of which for years could not find for the magnificent library, anything better than an obscure corner in the Dadyseth Fire Temple at Thakurdwar. The Mulla Feroze Madressa now holds its classes in the same premises and it has been arranged also to give facilities to the Zarthosthi Dinni Khol Karnari Mandli to hold its meetings in the Institute Buildings. In consideration of these facilities the funds exclusively raised by the Parsis amounting to about Rs. 12,000 for perpetuating Mr. Cama's memory will be made over to the Funds of the Cama Institute.

It is proposed to endow a few fellowships and scholarships in connection with the Institute with a view to encouraging and advancing oriental studies and research work. The Institute will thus be a centre of many-sided activities in oriental scholarship, worthy of the great scholar whose services to the cause of oriental learning it commemorates. We understand that it is proposed to have an opening ceremony very shortly.

M. A. O. COLLEGE DUTY DEPUTATION.

(From a Member of the Deputation.)

The Duty Society of the M. A. O. College, Aligarh, which is more than 25 years old, has been maintained and managed throughout its useful career by the students themselves. The objects of the Society are laudable in the highest degree. More than 50 per cent. of the Moslem students who flock to the College at Aligarh, are such as have no means of meeting the College expenses. It is for the help of such poor students that the Duty Society collects funds and provides them with "debts of honour." So far more than three lakhs of rupees have been collected by the Society and distributed among poor students. This year the funds being very low, deputations have been sent to Behar, Eastern Bengal and Bombay Presidency to carry the message of want from the poor students of Aligarh to their brethren all over India. The Bombay deputation, consisting of Professor Wilayat Ahmad, Messrs. Abdul Aziz Puri, Syed Mahomed Ahsan and Khudabuksh, is at present touring in Kathiawar and has collected about Rs. 4,000 from Western Punjab, Quetta, Sindh and Kathiawar. The most handsome donation so far received is from the Junagadh Durbar. Mr. H. D. Rendall, the administrator of Junagadh, very kindly granted Rs. 1,000 on behalf of the Nawab Saheb in aid of the fund. The Junagadh State has never lagged behind her sister States in such charitable causes. With its large-hearted liberality many buildings of public utility have even been erected outside the State and a handsome sum of Rs. 25,000 for a hostel at Aligarh is being paid in instalments.

It is our duty to thank here Mr. E. Maconochie, Political Agent of Kathiawar, for his kindness and help to us in our work. We also thank Mr. Rendall, the administrator of Junagadh, for his kindness, for the splendid State hospitality and the generous donation on behalf of the Nawab Saheb.

Our thanks are also due to Mr. Munshi, bar.-at-law, of Rajkot, who is a trustee of the College, and to Mr. Mahomed Yusif Munshi, postal superintendent, who proved tendent, who proved of immense help to us.

In the end we hope that the noble example of the Junagadh Durbar will be followed by the rest of the States in Kathiawar and the Moslems of Bombay and other places which will shortly be visited.

The Success of
Patrick MacGill

¶ Patrick MacGill's leap into fame as a writer of the realistic school has been one of the literary events of recent years. Three years ago he was unknown, now his name and work are familiar to readers throughout the English-speaking world.

¶ "CHILDREN OF THE DEAD END" was a literary sensation. The autobiography of a navvy was something new and strange to the reading public, and ten thousand copies were called for within fifteen days of publication.

¶ Born in Donegal of Irish peasants, Patrick MacGill is now in his twenty-sixth year. He started life at nine years of age as a potato-digger in the North of Scotland. He then became a farm-hand, labourer, tramp, drainer, and navvy in turn, and all these phases of his life are described with great power in his autobiography ("Children of the Dead End").

¶ In his spare time he wrote poems and studied to such effect that he was soon able to translate from the French and German. A little paper-covered book entitled "Songs of a Navvy" (a collector recently offered a guinea for a copy) and published by himself, was his first venture. An article, scribbled in pencil on a piece of dirty paper in a navvy-shack, found its way to the editor of a London paper, who immediately sent for MacGill and gave him a post on his staff.

¶ At the beginning of September, 1914, Patrick MacGill enlisted in the London Irish Rifles, and has been at Givenchy, Guinchy, Festubert, Grenay, and many other places, and was finally wounded at Loos in September last. "The Red Horizon" was written entirely in the trenches.

¶ Of Patrick MacGill's latest book, THE GREAT PUSH, the first British Edition consists of 25,000 copies. In it he tells of one of the most thrilling episodes in the Great War—the story of Loos.

Patrick MacGill has just written a series of six vivid word pictures of life at the Front entitled:

"From the Trenches"

THE BOMBAY CHRONICLE.
Monday, August 21, 1916.

HYDERABAD MUNICIPAL SCANDAL.

We published the other day a letter from a correspondent describing at length the unconstitutional doings of the Hyderabad Committee of Management. It will be remembered that about eight months ago the Government of Bombay dealt a serious blow at the fabric of local self-government by presenting the Hyderabad Municipality with an ultimatum derogatory to the self-respect of any Municipality for alleged mismanagement which they could not prove and which the municipality effectively disproved. The action of the Government seemed to be taken merely to maintain the "prestige" of local officialdom which had hopelessly blundered and persisted in its blunder. The Municipality which had the confidence and support of the citizens of Hyderabad, and rightly regarded itself as carrying on a struggle for the elementary principles of local self-government, decided to accept extinction rather than submit to a proposal which was incompatible with the maintenance of those principles.

The action of the Government was taken in face of the strongest public protest. It was impolitic, unconstitutional and calculated to weaken public confidence in the oft-expressed desire of the Government to foster the growth of local self-government in the presidency. But, putting aside all this, and assuming for the moment that the action of Government was calculated to promote the welfare and to safeguard the best interests of the citizens of Hyderabad, it was to be presumed that after appointing the Committee of management, Government would see that nothing was done that was prejudicial to that welfare and that interest. The letter of the correspondent referred to above and the accounts that have appeared in the Sind papers, far from justifying this presumption, unfortunately tell a different tale. Things have been allowed to drift in a hopeless manner with injurious consequences to the interests of the city the extent of which may be imagined. The appointment of a chief executive officer hung fire for a long time and meantime everything seemed to be undecided. The question of filling some other vacant appointments and other important matters were also shelved in expectation of the appointment of a new chief executive officer. So much for the Committee's inaction. Its activities were most of them ill-conceived and took the form chiefly of an enhancement of taxation. The enhancement was strongly opposed by the ratepayers with the result that some of the items of the additional taxation were reduced. Enhancement of taxation is certainly not an evil so long as it is justified on reasonable grounds of necessity, and, as the "Sind Journal" observes, "the townspeople would not grudge the Committee a larger income provided it made a rupee go as far as it possibly could and also if no unnecessary expenditure is incurred by it." The Committee's budget, however, previously showed that in spite of increased taxation the general balance was drawn upon to the extent of Rs. 30,000. And our contemporary, therefore, rightly demands that the "Committee should publish its revised Budget for the year 1916-17, so that the people may become reconciled to enhanced taxation."

But the latest action of the Government is one which cannot but be characterised as adding insult to the injury already caused to the unfortunate citizens of Hyderabad by the continued acts of omission and commission of the Committee of management. A Government notification recently announced the appointment of Mr. Carter, of the Indian Civil Service as Municipal Commissioner for the city on a salary of Rs. 1,300 a month. In view of the finances of the Municipality, the cost of maintaining such a highly paid officer is an obviously uncalled-for drain. But apart from the consideration of finance, which in itself constitutes a sufficiently strong argument against the appointment, there is the far more important consideration of constitution. It has been laid down by the legislature that the appointment of a municipal commissioner for a town like Hyderabad having a population of less than one lakh, should be decided upon by the clear vote of two-thirds of the total strength of the Municipal Board. The Hyderabad Municipality is non-existent and therefore there is no possibility of the question being legally decided. On the other hand the Committee of Management cannot by any stretch of imagination be regarded as the Municipal Board,—for it lacks the very essential of the latter body, namely, representation of the people. This, however, is not all. The Government have gone back upon their own pledge. The Resolution directing the supersession of the Hyderabad Municipality and appointing the present Committee instead, clearly stated, among other things, that the "Governor-in-Council considers that in order to assist this body in discharging its responsibilities it is desirable that there should be at the head of the municipal executive an officer of a status and exercising powers corresponding to those enjoyed by a municipal commissioner under the provisions of the Act." No pledge could be more unmistakable. It is clear that Government did not contemplate,—and rightly so because under the existing lawid they could not contemplate,—the appointment of a municipal commissioner. It is, therefore, the more amazing that instead of appointing a less highly-paid officer, say a deputy collector,—as the chief executive officer the Government have countenanced such an obvious breach of a law which embodies the hard-won rights of the people to manage and control,—to however small an extent,—their own local affairs.

It is not surprising that this unconstitutional step has aroused apprehensions among the people and that these feelings have been given expression to in representations to the Government and in the press. As to the action of the Government in going back upon their word we do not propose to say anything. It is sufficiently self-condemnatory and needs no comment. What we are mainly concerned with is the constitutional aspect of the question. It is not yet too late for Government to do justice to the people of Hyderabad, and, apart from cancelling the appointment of the Municipal Commissioner, the most effective manner in which they can do so is to rehabilitate the Municipality. For after all the best part of true statemanship is to recognize past mistakes and to take immediate steps to retrieve their effects completely. Such an action would revive public confidence in the policy of Lord Willingdon's Government, which has been so rudely shaken by certain recent perverse manifestations.

Notes of the Day.

The Nippers Gripping.

The week-end news from the Western Front is of the most cheering character. Since the present offensive began there has not been such a glut of important successes to record. The expulsion of the Germans from the Guillemont-Maurepas salient and the capture of the Thiepval ridge by the British, are gains of the utmost significance. It is notable that both the Secretary for War and the Under-Secretary have gone out of their way to express a satisfactory opinion in regard to the progress of events, an unusual departure in the case of both. Lord Derby, always a cautious speaker, is content with saying that the military leaders are wholly satisfied and that the war is going in our favour. Mr. Lloyd George is, of course, more exuberant. The "nippers are gripping" and we are presently to hear a crack which will enable the kernel to be extracted. To do Mr. George justice it is the first time in two years that he has thought himself justified in making a boast of coming victory, though he has never lost faith. His orations during the past eighteen months, at least, have been confined to efforts to awaken his countrymen to a sense of the need for more vigorous action and greater sacrifices. But the achievements of the past three months in East and West, the perilous position of the Germans opposite the Somme, their evident inability to withstand the repeated onslaughts, and the parlous plight of the Austro-German forces on the Dniester front justify the optimistic utterances of ministers. A very satisfactory report comes from General Murray regarding the recent defeat of the Turks in the Canal zone, showing that the enemy lost half their force of 18,000 men in casualties, nearly four thousand being taken prisoners, while an immense quantity of material was captured by the British, including a whole battery of Krupp seventy-five millimetre guns and 2,300 rifles. In the Balkan theatre, where only the preliminaries are in progress as yet, the Allies are exhibiting a healthy predominance.

Mr. Chamberlain and Indian Opinion.

Mr. Chamberlain's reply to the questions put to him on the subject of the security demanded from "New India" might provoke laughter if it were not for the gravity of the ignorance of and indifference to Indian public feeling which it displays. The Secretary of State is entitled to make his own decision as to whether he will interfere or not with the action taken by a provincial Government in India. But it is at least his duty to make himself acquainted with all the facts and circumstances before he takes such a decision, and among the most important of these is the effect which such action has produced on the public mind. Mr. Chamberlain says he is not aware that "every Indian paper of standing had protested or that the action had aroused public indignation throughout India." The first is a fact as to which there can be no sort of question, and a fact of which the Secretary of State, who is responsible to Parliament for the state of India, has no business to be in ignorance. The second may be open to argument,—though we know here in India that it is true,—but even then it is a matter on which a Secretary of State ought to have some sort of information. Mr. Chamberlain is peculiarly sensitive to public opinion in England, when it is a question of the deaths caused by the criminal carelessness of officials of British soldiers, and rightly so. As far as public opinion in India is concerned his attitude is one of lofty contempt, as illustrated in the case of the Government of India Act Amendment Bill, again in the case of the feeling aroused by the action against "New India" under the Press Act and in many other matters.

A Breach of Faith.

Of course we do not know whether Mr. Chamberlain means to deny either of the propositions put to him or merely to express ignorance. That is one of the perplexities intended to be inflicted on the public by the stereotyped reply to inconvenient questions to ministers. But that will not lessen the resentment which is felt in this country at the attitude adopted by the Secretary of State in a Coalition government towards a feeling which found the strongest, and practically unanimous, expression among the Indian public. Not only every leading Indian paper but a large number of public bodies, political and otherwise,—to say nothing of public meetings,—joined in the protest. Here again Mr. Chamberlain finds it convenient to pick and choose. The action of Indian politicals and their organisations becomes important when Mr. Chamberlain is talking to an American interviewer about Indian loyalty in the war. They have no existence for him when their domestic grievances are concerned. Mr. Chamberlain is glad to have the loyalty as an asset in a time of crisis but he is quite indifferent as to how far it may be damped, or the people who gave it in such whole-hearted measure slighted when it suits his convenience. When Mr. Chamberlain went to the India Office he found a comparatively sympathetic atmosphere which he has changed in a brief interval into one of cold indifference to Indian aspirations and acquiescence in reactionary methods. The point is that, if he had come in with a Tory government representing a popular mandate, he would have been justified in changing the policy of the India Office. But since he is a member of a Coalition Government, whose business is to prosecute the war and to mark time in other departments, his whole attitude constitutes a breach of faith. It is time this view were impressed upon the Prime Minister and the rest of the Cabinet.

The Victorious Russian Generals.

The two Russian commanders who have been mainly responsible for the Russian successes in Galicia are Generals Brussiloff and Letchitsky. The latter is said to be a self-made man, who as a boy was educated in an ecclesiastical seminarium and destined for the church. It was with some opposition from his parents that he elected for a military career. It took General Letchitsky fully twenty-seven years to attain the grade of colonel and commander of an infantry regiment. He distinguished himself during manoeuvres near Petrograd, having held, by his clever tactics, with a single regiment a whole division of his adversary at bay for half a day. For this he was made adjutant in the suite of the Tsar, who greatly admired this feat. But it was not until the Russo-Japanese War that his real genius was felt. He knew the country well, having been for many years chief of a regiment stationed in the East. Here he won the St. George Cross, Golden Sword, for bravery, and was promoted general. He was one of the few Russian generals who emerged from the debacle without a spot on his name. Not only that, but after the war he was given the command of the 1st Division of Guards and made general of the Tsar's suite. Later he became Chief of the 18th Army Corps. After a year of command he knew all the officers of his corps, not only their names but their individual capacities. It was this characteristic of always striving to know the men under him that has earned him such popularity with the troops he commands. This war found him Commander-in-Chief of the Amur Military District.

"Push and Go."

As regards General Brussiloff Mr. Hamilton Fyfe, the special correspondent of the "Daily Mail" at the Russian Headquarters, gives us an interesting description of the man. He is 63 years of age or two years younger than Ivanoff whom he succeeded in the chief command upon Russia's south-western front. In everything but fact, says Mr. Fyfe, there is twenty years' difference between the two men. Ivanoff is big, slow-moving, old-fashioned in his views. Brussiloff is spare, alert, modern. He is for never-ceasing "push and go," he is first, last, and all the time a man of action.

His face tells this. Dark, steady, searching eyes and a nose with a high, commanding, curved bridge give him the look of an eagle. No pale cast of thought here. No student or professor, this. Firm chin, vigorous jaw line. When this man begins a task he will carry it through to the end, as he carried his Carpathians campaign. It was he who overcame all the difficulties of that surprising adventure. Spite of winter, spite of deep snows and terrible cold, he pushed on till he had won the whole ridge of the mountains and was ready to push his troops down into Hungary.

"The best strategy and the most successful tactics lie in attack," he told me. "Don't let the enemy choose where he will hit you. Hit him first: keep on hitting him. Give him no rest." The general's close-cropped, stubbly hair seemed to bristle as he spoke. His long-ish but thin and little-noticed grey moustache quivered.

"Yes, that is the way. Always attack. Even if he is stronger, attack him. Keep him guessing. Puzzle him. Make him wonder what you are up to."

"But that means heavy losses!"

"No, no not if your attack succeeds. Attacks which fail, like the German attacks at Verdun, are terribly expensive. But successful attacks cost very little. If only we had had munitions this time last year. . . ." He shook his head regretfully.

"Now it is different," he said briskly. "We have abundance of everything, as you have seen for yourself. We are ready, and we shall be very glad when we get orders to prove it."

A Ceylon Scandal.

At a recent meeting of the Ceylon Legislative Council, the Hon. Mr. Ramanathan moved a Resolution calling for papers regarding the supersession of Mr. Justice Ennis by his junior Mr. Justice Shaw, in the matter of the Acting Chief Justiceship of the Supreme Court of the Colony. Mr. Ramanathan pointed out that Mr. Justice Ennis was the senior Puisne Judge and entitled to the Acting Chief Justiceship and that his supercession was due, it was generally believed, to the fact that in certain cases brought before him by the police decisions were given by him which were not quite in accord with the views of certain executive officers. "And it has been publicly declared," he added, that the appointment of a junior Puisne Justice over the head of a senior Puisne Justice is a distinct warning to judges that it would be to their advantage to know what the views of the authorities are in matters that come for adjudication and that they must subordinate their independence and judgement to the authorities' views; and it is widely believed that a great blow had been struck at the independence of the judiciary. Mr. Ramanathan could not help agreeing with those who rightly declared that no more serious charge could have been brought against Government and that it was impossible for Government to remain silent under the accusation.

An Evasive Reply.

To this indictment the Government, through the Colonial Secretary, gave an evasive reply that ignored the real point at issue and thus confirmed the suspicion of the grounds on which Mr. Justice Ennis' claims were believed to have been set at naught. There was no such thing as "claims" by an officer, the Government reply stated, to act otherwise than in his own appointment and the Governor had the right to appoint to act the person whom he considered the most suitable without regard to seniority. Mr. Ramanathan in reply referred to a Colonial Regulation which distinctly stated that "the claims of the several candidates for promotion will be considered in order of their seniority." But apart from this question, the Government were bound to justify to the public their action in departing from the ordinary practice and their complete silence with regard to the allegations as to the reasons which actuated them to this action must create an apprehension in the public mind that in wishing to restrain the liberty of Judges to decide what they think right and wrong in Court, they are quite indifferent to the effect of their action in shaking the confidence of the people that in British courts they must expect justice and nothing but justice. It is to be hoped that the Home Government will look into this matter.

How to Make a Maiden Speech.

The House of Lords, of which Sir Edward Grey has now become a member, curiously enough supplied the subject of his first public speech. He delivered it as chairman of a demonstration at Alnwick, in 1884, to protest against the action of the House of Lords in throwing out the Franchise Bill. Before the meeting he went over what he thought of saying in his library at Fallodon, his hearer and adviser being the vicar of the parish, Mandell Creighton, afterwards Bishop of London. In the following year Sir Edward spoke again at Alnwick, this time as a possible Liberal candidate for the Berwick division. Three other persons were ambitious to be selected, and it was agreed that all four should address meetings separately, and that the choice should be made by a plebiscite. In a letter written to Sir Edward Grey before the franchise meeting Dr. Creighton approved his decision to take part, and urged him to "use every opportunity that may offer itself of making yourself a political personage with a distinct line." He further advised that a speech of about a quarter of an hour would be "about the right thing," and encouraged him by the remark, "It does not much matter what you say; you are sure to say what is all right and proper." Dr. Creighton seemed to be most concerned lest his young friend should not know how to finish.

"There is a great temptation," he said, "not to have an ending definitely prepared. This leads a speaker to wander about aimlessly at last, and repeat himself and flounder about and do away with the effect of the first part of his speech. Therefore I say prepare a definite statement carefully which you are going to lead up to. You may trust your inspiration of the moment how you get there. But when you have got there, say it clearly and sit down."

German Falsification for News.

The Socialist Vienna "Arbeiter Zeitung" published in mail week an extraordinary exposure of the falsification of military news by the German and Austrian press. As regards Germany, the "Arbeiter Zeitung" quotes "remarks" which it professes to have found in Socialist organs published in Germany. The writer shows that, even though the German official reports may admit defeats or failures, the German press conceals them. According to him this procedure is not exceptional, but typical of what has been done throughout the war and he proceeds:—

Careless readers are by this systematic treatment brought to believe that for the past two years we have been conquering on fronts just as we please. They do not become conscious at all that the actual and considerable successes have been won and maintained only by great sacrifices, and that Germany is fighting a hard fight for her existence. . . . Such manufacture of opinion cannot have any effect upon sensible people. Perhaps it rather has a tendency to arouse suspicion. Among the foolish, on the other hand, these methods do not produce the confidence in success which we all need, but a frivolity which results in the worst political mistakes. One is all too ready to forget that the German people is still faced by an unsolved problem, the solution of which needs the combined working of all the people's strength, and one ventures upon political experiments which one would wisely leave alone if one had not such an absolute confidence in the stedfastness of the German walls of men in East and West.

The "Arbeiter Zeitung" goes on to declare that matters are much worse in Vienna.

ACTIVITY IN MACEDONIA.

The week-end-fighting on the Somme developed into one of the most important and successful battle of the western offensive.

The British pushed forward their line at several points and captured the ridge south-east of, and overlooking, Thiepval and the northern slopes of high ground north of Pozieres. The British hold the western edge of High Wood and enemy trenches extending half a mile west of the wood. On the Verdun front the French captured the remainder of the village of Fleury, and two fortified redoubts north-west of Thiaumont and advanced between Thiaumont and Fleury.

The Russians are close to the Hungarian frontier which they have not yet crossed. They are advancing by Jablonitza which is the main route to Debreczen in the plains of Hungary.

The Russians have occupied the towns of Lysiec and Stare on the Zlotvinska-Bistritsa. General Bothmer's new positions on the Zlotalipa are outflanked by the Russians north of the Dniester.

A telegram from Salonika states that the Allies held up an enemy attack three miles from Florina.

The Belgians have scored successes on the whole front in East Africa.

There was an aerial combat in Mesopotamia which resulted in an enemy Fokker being brought down to the ground behind the Turkish lines.

The strength of the enemy in the Katia operations in the Canal zone, is estimated at 18,000 of which they lost half in casualties including 3,920 prisoners.

Mr. Lloyd George in a speech said that he felt for the first time in two years that the nippers were gripping and we should hear a crack.

PARIS, Aug. 20.

A communiqué says:—North of the Somme, apart from the isolated operation which elected the Germans from the trench in which they gained a footing last night north of Maurepas, the day was quiet. Our troops actively consolidated the conquered ground. Bad weather interfered with artillery.

There was a sharp artillery duel on the right of the Meuse.

INCESSANT TERRIFIC PUNISHMENT

ENEMY'S MORALE BADLY SHAKEN.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

LONDON, Aug. 19.

Reuter's special correspondent at Headquarters in France, wires that the week-end fighting developed into one of the most important and successful battles of the Western offensive.

Besides satisfactorily progressing towards the complete mastery of the ridge we captured 1,000 prisoners many machine-guns and much material. Several formidable strong points were destroyed and the way prepared for further progress.

We were most successful in the neighbourhood of the Leipzig Redoubt and Martinpuich.

The enemy's morale was badly shaken under the incessant terrific punishment. A whole squad of Saxons deserted, unable to face the music.

NIPPERS GRIPPING.

"WE SHOULD HEAR A CRACK."

WAR MINISTER'S CONFIDENCE.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Aug. 20.

Mr. Lloyd George, speaking at Criccieth, said he was satisfied with the way things were going. He felt for the first time in two years that the nippers were gripping and we should hear a crack, when we should be able to extract the kernel.

The vigour of our demands would be proportionate to the undreamt-of sacrifices made by Great Britain. We must have a complete, unchallengeable victory that would be a warning to kings and their counsellors of the reckoning demanded by civilised nations for their outrages, and which would let us have done with war now and forever.

THE WESTERN FRONT.

PIVOT OF ALLIED OPERATIONS

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

LONDON, Aug. 17.

Mr. Warner Allen emphasises that the western front is the pivot of the Allied operations. The British and the French are seeking to hold the greatest possible German force there in order to facilitate the operations of the Russians and the Italians. It is estimated that two-thirds, of the total German strength is on the western front, namely 121 divisions, compared with 53 on the eastern front. The effectiveness of the pressure is proved by the enemy's hesitancy to send troops to the east.

A telegram from Amsterdam says that forty long troop trains crammed with troops passed through Cologne yesterday on the way to the Somme.—Appeared in our Sunday Edition.

METHODICAL BRITISH OPERATIONS.

STRATEGICAL IMPORTANCE OF RECENT SUCCESSES

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

PARIS, Aug. 17.

The methodical British operations in gradually surrounding Thiepval have gratified French experts.

The capture of Moquet farm, half a mile north-west of Pozieres, is important. It stands at a height of 456 feet commanding the Thiepval plateau and town.

Similarly Hill 160, north-east of Pozieres, commands the Courcelet village and the main road to Bapaume, five miles distant.—Appeared in our Sunday Edition.

BRITISH ACTIVITY IN THE NORTH.

ENEMY KEPT IN A STATE OF NERVOUSNESS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

ALLAHABAD, Aug. 20.

A "Pioneer" special cable says:—

One of the press correspondents at the front, invites attention to the northern part of the British line remarking that no estimate of the enemy's recent losses must be confined to the region of the Picardy battle. Our artillery in the north have been firing day after day in a steady continuous way cutting the barbed wire over a long stretch of the line, keeping gaps open when the enemy tries to close them and laying parapets flat. It has been six weeks of bombardment, trench-mortar work, mine explosions, fierce raids, and every form of attack invented during the two years of war. The enemy have been kept in a state of nervousness as to what may happen next. In contrast to the rare birds that fly over our lines in Picardy enemy aeroplanes have been searching the back areas in Flanders and Artois for any signs of troops massing against him. At night his flares rise continuously. His riflemen wire in spasms of alarm lest any shadows should be creeping towards them. A German official communiqué mentions the violence of the British bombardment at Wytschaete on the La Bassée canal and southward.

The Paris critics dwell on the enemy's growing delay in launching counter-attacks which according to his own rules should be made immediately. Some positions taken by the French have not been re-attacked at all. This is believed to indicate the difficulty in moving forward reserves while all existing forces have already been heavily engaged.

RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE.

ENEMY'S SEVERE REPULSE ON ZLOTA LIPA.

THE ADVANCE TO THE CARPATHIANS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

PETROGRAD, Aug. 18.

The seaplanes carried out their work amidst furious fire from anti-aircraft guns, but returned safely.—Appeared in our Sunday Edition.

TOBOLY CAPTURED.

ENEMY REPULSED EVERYWHERE IN VOLHYNIA.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

PETROGRAD, Aug. 19.

A communiqué says:—The enemy are active in Volhynia, east of Brody and south of the Pripet. They have everywhere been repulsed.

The Russians in the neighbourhood of Tchirvistchie, on the Stokhod, broke the enemy's front and captured the village of Tobely, taking 220 prisoners.

The enemy have assumed the offensive at Kirlobaba. The Russian advance guards fell back, somewhat. There is heavy fighting in the direction of Diarbekir.

PREPARING FOR A GREAT BLOW.

BOTHMER'S NEW POSITIONS OUTFLANKED.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

LONDON, Aug. 20.

An Austrian communiqué admits retirement west of Zabie after violent Russian attacks against the Chornahora ridge in the Carpathians.

A telegram from Petrograd says the comparative lull on the Russian front does not signify the ceasing of the offensive but is the natural result of the bigness of the Russian success. The enemy at some points have retreated from 20 to 30 miles, destroying bridges which the Russians are busy reconstructing, and simultaneously regrouping their armies with a view to the next great blow.

General Bothmer's new positions on the Zlotalipa are outflanked by the Russians operating north of the Dniester.

RUSSIANS NEARING HUNGARY

ADVANCING BY JABLONITZA PASS.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

PETROGRAD, Aug. 20.

Enemy losses in the fighting which resulted from the Russian crossing of the upper Sereth averaged seventy per cent.

An Austrian detachment of 5,000 mustered 300 after attacks lasting two days. Nineteen hundred were captured and the remainder killed or wounded. The majority were dead, being bayonetted in close fighting.

The feature of the battle was the charge of the Russian cavalry which galloped one and a half miles and plunged into the flank of the German infantry hastening to support the Austrians, and practically exterminated a German regiment just from Verdun and two battalions of Austrian jaeger. They pursued the remainder to trenches where the majority were cut up. Only a few prisoners were taken.

Austrian and German communiqués mention that General Bothmer is employing Turks.

The Russians are close to the Hungarian frontier which they have not yet crossed. They are advancing by the Jablonitza pass, which is the main route from Kolomea to Debreczen, in the plains of Hungary.

SITUATION IN GALICIA.

DESPERATE FIGHTING AT HALICZ BRIDGEHEAD.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

LONDON, Aug. 18.

The enemy in Galicia is apparently firmly holding the wings 60 miles apart. An Austrian communiqué speaks of violent assaults by masses of Russians for twelve hours continuously against Boehm-Ermoli's northern wing. It admits that the trenches have been penetrated at various points but only temporarily.

General Sakharoff in this region is fighting only three miles ahead of the ground he won before the retirement of Bothmer further south.

The position at the Halicz bridgehead is also unchanged. Here the enemy is desperately striving to hold the bridgehead on the Dniester.—Appeared in our Sunday Edition.

AFFRAY AT CHENGCHIATUNG

TO BE SETTLED LOCALLY.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

PEKING, Aug. 19.

The incident at Chengchiatung is being investigated. It appears probable that the matter will be settled locally and will not develop seriously.

The Chinese contend that the incident was entirely due to Japanese troops unnecessarily marching to the Chinese barracks. They point out that the Japanese have no right to station troops at Chengchiatung.

The Japanese assert that Chinese soldiers threatened a Japanese policeman, and that Japanese soldiers were sent to protect him.

This refers to the affray in which nine Japanese soldiers were killed and seven wounded and a civilian policeman killed at Chingchiatung. The Chinese casualties are believed to have been over fifty. The encounter continued throughout the night of the 13th.

ALLIES' SECRET GUNS.

MYSTERIOUS EXPLOSIVES IN 15 INCH SHELLS.

Senator Henry Berenger, after a visit to the Somme front, sends the "Matin" (says the "Daily Mail") a most encouraging account of what he has seen, especially in the way of heavy artillery. One of the dominating facts in this connection is the intimate collaboration between the French and British gunners.

"Sir Douglas Haig," he says, "showed me on a map the emplacements where the French batteries are coupled with the English batteries and vice versa. In one of the valleys which hide our steel monsters I saw with my own eyes a formidable British howitzer surrounded by twelve French 75's (3-in. field guns), like an enormous bulldog accompanied by coursing greyhounds.

"Elsewhere on the British front four of our biggest French cannon were making good play with the enemy quarters ten miles away.

"For four days I have watched firing before me many big English guns, notably the 15-in. howitzers, and I can affirm emphatically the excellence not only of these admirable pieces, but also of the officers and non-commissioned officers who direct their fire.

"The terribly rapid 6-in. howitzer can fire every minute two, and even three, 110 pound shells, containing twenty pounds of explosives, a distance of six miles. The range of the monster 15-in. howitzer is regulated by aeroplanes. Its fire is extremely exact, and every minute it hurls a giant shell of 715 pounds charged with a secret explosive."

M. Berenger's conclusion is: "The problem of moving powerful artillery by rail is to-day victoriously solved on the horizon of the battle."

AUSTRIA'S LAST MEN.

TROOPS WITHDRAWN FROM SERBIA.

Commenting on the closing of the Austro-Swiss frontier, the Milan correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph" says:—

The reason for this measure is believed to be a general levy en masse in Austria, the clearing out of the last reserves, including only the half-recovered invalids and the wounded from the barracks, and withdrawal of a large part of the troops from the Italian front, and the transportation of all troops in Serbia. Austria is thus collecting whatever remains of her forces and sending them to the Russian front.

It is said that already 100,000 Austrian troops, mostly Territorials, who formed the army of occupation in Serbia, have been removed and sent to Galicia. The maximum reserves that can thus be collected is estimated at about 400,000 men, and if this reserve army is also defeated by the Russians, Austria will have used up her very last resources in what German strategists cynically describe as human material.

There is also another reason for closing the frontiers, which is to prevent news getting to the Allies of the grave situation in the Austro-Hungarian Empire. Owing to the panic created by the Russian victories disorders have broken out in so many towns that the rigorous state of siege had to be increased.

PLAGUE AND SCHOOLS.

To THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICLE."

Sir,—President Lincoln once observed:—

"You can fool part of the people all of the time; and all of the people part of the time; but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

The Superintendent of St. George's School, Nasik, one Mr. D. K. Shinde, apparently belongs to the part of the people of whom Mr. Lincoln speaks as capable of being fooled "all of the time," judging from the fact that at this time of day he puffs plague inoculation and suggests the school authorities, in a letter to the local "Times" to induce teachers and students to submit to the pumping of "liquid filth" into their blood.

As some of our school authorities may be misled by his effusions into committing the unpardonable blunder of acting as suggested, may I trespass on the generosity of your valued columns with a view to put those concerned on the right track?

The system of inoculation is based on grounds similar to that on which vaccination rests. By its means deceased matter is introduced directly into the blood in contravention of Nature's laws. Serious injury has resulted from the operation whilst the diseases it is supposed to prevent frequently occur after it. It blinds the eyes of its supporters to the true causes of the terrible zymotic diseases which rage in India. For years past the mortality from plague has been appalling, in spite of the persistent use of serums and vaccines and the denunciation of rats. We know that Haffkine's serum, which was tomtomed and in vogue for years, turned out a dismal failure, and was given up. The new vaccine has been more or less of an experiment and there has been no scientific evidence of its value forthcoming. The Salvation Army, at the earnest request of the authorities, persuaded some of the people suffering from bubonic plague to submit to inoculation. The experience of the Salvation Army in India in regard to plague inoculation is thus euphemistically summarised by General Booth in a letter to the press:—

"The results of our officers' experiments have not encouraged them." ("Chronicle," January 26, 1916.)

The bulk of the medical profession prefers being occupied with filthy serums and vaccines and patent squirts, and tormenting rats and cats and guinea pigs instead of studying the causes from which these conditions of disease arise.

In England, the plague, the sweating sickness, black death, typhus or gaol fever and small-pox which raged virulently in all the insanitary centres, were got rid of by the introduction of better drainage, changes in the food of the people, greatly improved sanitary and hygienic conditions, such as good water, sewerage, drainage, better housing, reduction of overcrowding and the general results of the Public Health Act. . . . .

"The whole of the modern system of Medicine," says Dr. Walter Haden, M.D., J.P., very rightly, "which consists in adding disease to disease, is upon altogether wrong and unscientific lines. It is not the serum monger who is needed, but the sanitary engineer and hygienic reformer; it is not the attacking of an isolated disease into an isolated human body, but it is preventing the disease from germinating at all among the commonwealth. If the Government would just give Mr. Haffkine and all his army of scientific men with their tubes of caged filth and their patent squirts prompt notice to quit, and would employ half a dozen practical sanitary engineers with full powers to put a stop to the business, they could settle the plague in no time, and it would be an immense saving in life and treasure."

Permit me to say one word to the school authorities who are doubtless anxious for the physical welfare of the students.

Instil into the pliant minds of students the vast beneficial results and delightfulness of breathing the purest, sweetest air, day and night and always, winter and summer; of opening doors and windows as widely as possible so as to allow the admission of the freest circulation of air and of the largest possible amount of bright sunlight into every room in the house, closets included and into every nook and corner of the dwelling; of practising cleanliness in its fullest and widest sense—cleanliness of the person, the habits, the house, the street, water supply, air in and around dwellings, and of the total surroundings of the individual; of the free use of water as a drink for blood purification; of taking vigorous daily exercise out of doors—every day of the year and practically regardless of "bad" weather—such as running, rapid walking in the open air, mountain climbing, swimming, thereby maintaining blood purity; of being always sunny, bright and cheerful, of living the simpler and sweeter life in touch with Nature and of indulging in the most delightful pastime the world affords, viz., gentle exercise in the woods and the hills among beloved trees and lovely winged and feathered friends and you raise most effectual barriers against the onslaught of disease.—Yours, etc.,

COTTON FORECAST.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

CALCUTTA, Aug. 20.

The first cotton forecast for 1916-17 shows the area as twelve and one-third millions acres, or a four per cent., increase on last year's. Prospects on the whole are fair to good. The report refers to only seventy-six per cent. of the total area since sowings in many places have not yet begun.

POLICEMEN CONVICTED OF DACOITY.

VISIT TO A GAMBLING DEN.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

ALLAHABAD, Aug. 20.

The Sessions Judge of Jhansi has decided an interesting case of dacoity in which the accused were policemen, and sentenced Head Constable Ghafuruddin and Munshi Lal Khatri to four years' rigorous imprisonment, Constable Jodhan Singh to three years and Constable Mian Sahib to two years' rigorous imprisonment. The dacoity was of an unusual character. Munshi Lal got up a gambling party on the night of the 11th of June and he lost. He left the place in the small hours of the morning while others of the party slept in the house. Towards morning the house was raided by Munshilal and the three accused policemen while two other policemen who have not been identified, stood on guard at the door. By use of threats and a small amount of personal violence the winners were made to pay the money they had on their persons. The accused have appealed to the High Court.

DEFENCE OF THE KING'S PROPERTY.

JURY'S VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

RANGOON, Aug. 19.

Mungapathi Naidu and Bhoomaih Naidu, two sepoys of 79th Carnatic Infantry, who were committed to the Chief Court sessions by the Cantonment Magistrate on a charge of culpable homicide, not amounting to murder, of Krishna Nair, a recruit of the same regiment, were tried yesterday of minor charges of voluntarily causing hurt and assault. Briefly the facts were that on June 24 the deceased, who was a patient in a regimental hospital, threatened to report the first accused for not having given him sufficient food. The deceased followed the accused downstairs and was alleged to have been struck three blows with his fist in the spleen and the second accused pushed him. The deceased walked to the regimental kitchen and when removed to the hospital expired. The death was, according to post-mortem examination, due to ruptured spleen. The defence stated that the deceased asked for more meat than what he received and because it was refused he struck the first accused on the face after snatching a piece from a dish. The accused struck the deceased in the legitimate exercise of his right of private defence of the King's property. The jury unanimously found both the prisoners not guilty and they were acquitted.

REMINISCENCES OF "TOBY," EX-M. P.

Sir Henry Lucy is a prince of political anecdotists. He has been a favoured and vigilant observer behind the scenes in Parliament for very many years. He saw everything worth seeing; he knew everybody worth knowing. Though primarily concerned with statesmen and politicians, he has touched life at many other points.

ALL THE WORLD.

His long and honourable connection with "Punch" brought him into contact with the art world, and he was and is the friend of many artists, actors and journalists. The concentrated essence of his rich and varied experiences of men and things in many fields is expressed in this urbane and witty volume, in which there is not a dull page and which contains many chapters of engressing interest. In charm, vivacity and variety it will rank high among its author's works. Sir Henry Lucy's compact, concise, idiomatic style; his inimitable skill in telling a story; his irony and his delicately-flavoured wit—these familiar characteristics are here in their perfection.

At a time when we are all labouring in the shadow of the great war it is pleasant by way of relief to accompany this well informed and gossipy guide through the 80's and the 90's—with their elegance, their comparative calm, their gracious ease, their luxurious life. It was the last flowering of the aristocratic and plutocratic regime in England, a regime which seemed to be embodied in the amiable, gracious, pleasure-loving personality of the Prince who became Edward VII.

THE PERSONAL TOUCH.

We have glimpses in the book of Queen Victoria, Gladstone, Granville, Harcourt, Randolph Churchill, John Morley, the Duke of Devonshire, Robert Lowe, Isaac Butt, Tennyson, Browning, Swinburne, Sir Thomas Sutherland, Sir Donald Currie, Henry Irving, J. L. Toole, Sarah Bernhardt, Ellen Terry, John Tenniel, Edmund Yates, George du Maurier, Charles Keene, and Phil May. Most of these persons were well-known to Sir Henry Lucy, the range of whose acquaintances has always been remarkable for its catholicity. One of Sir Henry's friends was the late A. M. Sullivan, a gifted Nationalist M.P., whose son Serjeant Sullivan, was principal counsel for Sir Roger Casement. In the 80's Sir Henry Lucy visited Ireland as the guest of A. M. Sullivan. Of that visit he writes:

I confess I was surprised at the firm hold the demand for Home Rule had gained upon the people. . . . Looking back on personal experience, I later came to understand how English politicians—not forgetting that unimpeachable Conservative, Lord Carnarvon—sent to Dublin Castle were slowly but surely brought to believe that the only possible way to govern Ireland was to let Ireland govern herself in respect to her internal affairs.

This is the only hint in the book of the author's personal opinions. It is quoted here for its bearing on the events of to-day. Sir Henry intends this book to be his last. We hope he will not adhere to that resolution. Like Oliver Twist, we ask for more.

CALCUTTA UNIVERSITY.

SHARP DISCUSSION ON THE BUDGET.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

CALCUTTA, Aug. 19.

A meeting of the Senate of the Calcutta University was held this evening at the Senate House, Dr. D. P. Sarvadhikary, Vice-Chancellor, presiding. There was a large attendance of Fellows. The two important items in the list of business were the presentation of the budget estimate for 1916-17 and resumption of a postponed debate on the motion of Professor C. J. Hamilton urging the foundation of a University College of Science similar to the University Law College. The debate on this motion, was, however, not proceeded with as the time of the House was taken up by the debate on the budget, but will be resumed at the next meeting of the Senate. Sir Asutosh Mookerjee, President of the Board of Accounts, presented the budget estimate for 1916-17 and explained various items. He regretted the Syndicate had not exercised sufficient caution in the matter of expenditure last year. If the Syndicate would only cautiously administer funds for the coming twelve months, the University's financial prospects would be fair, and there would be no room for anxiety. No new scheme involving expenditure should be taken up, however captivating it might be. He announced that Dr. P. C. Ray would join the Science College very shortly and Mr. C. V. Raman would join it on November 1st. An animated discussion followed in which many European members took part.

Mr. Archhold, Principal, Dacca College, seconding Sir Asutosh's motion for the adoption of the budget statement, impressed the necessity of maintaining good relations between the University and the Government of India.

QUESTION OF RAISING EXAMINATION FEES.

Dr. Howells and Mr. Mitchell expressed surprise that the University College of Science should be without a Principal or a business head. The former said a University, to be a self-respecting body, should have ample funds. Why not raise the examination fees of candidates? That would bring a considerable sum to the coffers of the University.

Sir Gurudas Bannerjea said that if Dr. Howells had known the condition of Indian students, their difficulty in finding money to pay the examination fees, as they were at present, he would not have ventured to make such a proposal.

Dr. Dwarkanath Mitter, Professors Mohalanabis and J. R. Bannerjea in reply to the observation by Dr. Howells that the College of Science was to be without a Principal or a business head, said the college was not in need of a highly paid principal, as Sir Asutosh Mukerjee and a strong governing body directed the affairs of the college and examined minutely the minutest details of the college.

Sir Asutosh Mookerjee in replying to the criticisms on the budget said he was glad the budget was not subjected to scathing criticism. Regarding the Science College, he said Dr. P. C. Ray and Professor C. V. Raman were themselves successful business-men who would efficiently manage the affairs of the College without the assistance of a Principal. Besides the University had no money to appoint a Principal. Even if he could command funds he would rather appoint two more professors than have a Principal. He agreed with Mr. Archbold that the University's relations with the Government of India should be very cordial but differences of opinion should be tolerated on both sides and should not cause irritation.

The Vice-Chancellor in winding up the debate said the conditions of Indian students were very hard and Dr. Howells' suggestion of raising examination fees would operate very harshly on students if it were given effect to. As regards relations with the Government, the Vice-Chancellor said never were relations more cordial than now. The Budget was adopted unanimously.

RISE OF FOOD PRICES IN CALCUTTA.

A COMPARATIVE STATEMENT.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

CALCUTTA, Aug. 19.

According to a return of the Department of Statistics compiled from the Calcutta Municipal market price lists retail food prices in Calcutta on August 15th were 11 per cent. higher than at the outbreak of the war and 2 per cent higher as compared a year ago. The rise in price of sugar and imported salt is specially noteworthy, the former rising by 82 per cent and the latter by 62 per cent. The following comparison with rises in food, prices in foreign countries over pre-war level is interesting:—Vienna 121.1 per cent in May, Berlin 116 May, United Kingdom 61 July, Italy 32.4 April, Australia 30.9 May, Canada 12.9 May, Calcutta 11, August 15th.

BANKURA FAMINE.

The Rev. J. Mitchell, President of the Bankura College Famine Fund (Bengal) begs to acknowledge with deep thanks a sum of Rs. 100 from Dewjee Bhuthbai. This is the second gift of his amount.

A QUERY.

A correspondent writes:—As I am interested in the following information, I shall deem it a great favour if you could kindly supply same.

Whether in any case a Viceroy or a Governor has left India for Home by the way of the Prince's Docks instead of Apollo Bunder, and if so, his name. (I think it was Lord Curzon in 1905).

WHAT THEY SAY?

THE DAYTON AIRLESS TIRE

is advertised by our appreciative Users.

Bayhead N. J., Feb. 1, 1915.

Gentlemen:—I am now using my second set of Dayton Airless Tires. My first set covered 22,000 miles on the front wheels and 24,000 miles on the rear.

I put the second set on the Ford car that I had the first set on, then I sold that car and bought a new one, reserving the Dayton Airless Tires and giving the new pneumatic tires with the old car. I am so well satisfied with these tires that I would not use any pneumatic tire on a car which I drove in stormy or cold weather or at night if it was given to me.

I had as little trouble and expense on my old car as any Ford car covering the same mileage.

This set has now gone over 7,000 miles and is apparently as good as new. I use my car over all kinds of roads and in all kinds of weather, over frozen and icy roads all winter.

Yours very truly,
JOS. F. MORTON.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 28, 1914.

Gentlemen:—It might interest you to know that I have used a set of your tires on a Pope-Hartford seven-passenger car weighing 4,900 pounds for fourteen months, covering approximately twelve thousand miles.

The rubber on one of these tires is intact and apparently as good as the day it was installed. I am leaving for Florida, Wednesday, Sept. 30th, and will call at your office for the purpose of having three more Dayton Airless Tires installed on my car before taking this six-thousand-mile trip to Florida and return.

I have no motive in writing this other than the service, pleasure and ease of mind in riding on tires that we have no worry over. I will see you Wednesday for the purpose of having these tires installed on my car.

Yours very truly,
H. W. CHASE.

Brooklyn N. Y., Jan. 28, 1915.

Gentlemen:—In reference to the Dayton Airless Tires, I have driven these tires for the past four seasons and more, and I consider them first class. In fact, I would not be without them.

Yours very truly,
RUFUS H. BROWN.

Use only two AIRLESS TIRES and you will use no other.
